

CARY PEPPER

Playwright's Bio

Cary Pepper has had work presented throughout the United States and internationally.

Among his full-length plays, How It Works won the 2012 Ashland New Plays Festival and Cufflinked was a semifinalist for the 2014 festival. Among his one-act plays, The Walrus Said won the Religious Arts Guild Playwriting Competition; Small Things won the Tennessee Williams/New Orleans Literary Festival One Act Play Contest; Party Favors won the Goshen Peace Play Contest. Most recently, From the Hoot won the Playwrights First Award, Small Things became his fourth production by Drip Action Theatre Trail (UK), House of the Holy Moment marked Cary's fourth appearance in the Newmarket International Festival of One Act Plays (Canada), and What Do They Want? made him the first playwright to be included in The St. Louis Actors' Studio's LaBute New Theater Festival three times.

Cary is a member of the Dramatists Guild, and a four-time contributor to Applause Books' Best American Short Plays series.