

Eden Lane is an award-winning journalist and playwright whose work centers overlooked communities. A former PBS host (450+ episodes) and Edward R. Murrow Award recipient with 20 years in arts and culture reporting, Eden now creates new theatrical works developed with Aurora Fox Theatre, Opera Steamboat, American Repertory Theater, and Dairy Arts Center. Based in the Denver area, Eden brings a journalist's eye for authentic voice and a storyteller's instinct for the moments that matter.
